

SCHOOL OF KINESIOLOGY AND RECREATION
GRADUATE PROGRAM STUDENT OUTCOMES ASSESSMENT

6/1/02

What are the learning objectives?	Where are the objectives assessed? By whom?	What are the expectations for satisfactory performance?	How will the results be used?
1. The student will understand the different research paradigms and value their role in examining various research questions.	KNR 445, 450, 497 Committee/Person responsible: KNR 445, 450, 497 Faculty	Measured by performance on written examinations and other class activities/assignments with a minimal grade of B or better.	Modify curriculum and/or instructional strategies as necessary. Committee/Person responsible: Graduate Faculty and Graduate Program Director.
2. Synthesize research studies and make practical applications of the results.	KNR 445, 450, 497 Committee/Person responsible: KNR 445, 450, 497 Faculty	Measured by performance on written examinations and other class activities/assignments with a minimal grade of B or better and by performance in culminating experiences.	Modify curriculum and/or instructional strategies as necessary. Committee/Person responsible: Graduate Faculty and Graduate Program Director.
3. The student will acquire advanced knowledge focused in a specific academic discipline.	All courses in a specified sequence or area of study. Committee/Person responsible: KNR Faculty	Measured by performance on written examinations and other class activities/assignments with a minimal grade of B or better.	Modify curriculum and/or instructional strategies as necessary. Committee/Person responsible: Graduate Faculty & Graduate Program Director
4. The student will acquire a complementary knowledge base in cognate areas related to a specific academic discipline.	All courses in identified cognate area. Committee/Person responsible: KNR Faculty	Measured by performance on written examinations and other class activities/assignments with a minimal grade of B or better.	Modify curriculum and/or instructional strategies as necessary. Committee/Person responsible: Graduate Faculty & Graduate Program Director
5. The student will complete an appropriate culminating experience related to a specific academic discipline.	Faculty members supervising culminating experience. Committee/Person responsible: KNR faculty advisors and/or faculty	Measured by performance on specified culminating experiences (thesis, independent study, professional practice, etc.)	Modify expectations and types of culminating experience as necessary. Committee/Person responsible: Graduate Faculty & Graduate Program Director